

Roneta Professional Search News Release

Roneta Adds Legal

CALGARY, December 2006 - Roneta Professional Search, a Calgary based recruitment company, has announced that they are adding a Legal Services practice for January 1st, 2007.

“With the growing economy, increasingly challenging demographics for our clients and the type of services Roneta is known for, that being senior professional recruitment, this was the logical next step in our evolution” stated Mike Buckner, Partner at Roneta.

Leading the Legal Services division will be Glenn Rosenfeld, a lawyer who brings years of recruitment experience to the already senior Roneta team. “I am excited about joining Roneta and being able to help out legal professionals in this exciting Calgary marketplace. Having been on the other side before, I know it can be intimidating sorting through different opportunities and trying to maximize your career potential. Hopefully with my knowledge of the profession and of the different opportunities and companies out there, I will be able to successfully help people transition their careers and help them make the best choice on an individual basis”. Roneta is one of only a handful of larger recruitment firms which is based in Calgary, something Buckner thinks is a big advantage “Calgary is a very unique marketplace and something Glenn is very familiar with. We feel Glenn can offer an expert’s eye to varied opportunities and help people carve out their own right fit. It is something Roneta already does in different practices and we are really excited to add Glenn to the team”.

Roneta was formed in 2005 and has already established itself as a recruitment leader in both the Accounting and Financial Services fields.
